Of the seventeen Greenbackers in the present Congress not one has been re-elected.

WM. McHUGH, the Cincinnati wife murderer, has been condemned to die on the scaffold March 2d, 1883.

It is announced at Washington that there will be no appointments or removals of any importance before congress meets.

The Cincinnati Volksblatt (Ind. Rep.) says: "If the Democrats are clever and try to avoid previous errors and use their success wisely, there can hardly be a doubt as to their success at the next Presidential election."

An exhibition of skill with the lariat at Austin, Tex., a few days ago, drew a crowd of 10,000 persons. Ten cowboys contested for a silver trimmed saddle worth $300, to be given to him who roped, threw and tied down a steer in the shortest space of time. The winner accomplished the feat in one minute and 45 seconds.

The Philadelphia Record (Ind.) says: "The ground has been broken for the complete restoration of the government to the hands from which it was torn at the outset of the civil war. This is a great change, but it is not a calamity. No one party in this country ever had a monopoly of civic virtue or of administrative ability. The people have become restive under the pressure imposed by an organization which has proved itself incapable of self-amendment."

FOR COUNCILMAN.

At the earnest solicitation of many of the best citizens of the Fifth ward, I have consented to be a candidate for re-election to the city council at the ensuing January election.
W. B. MATHEWS.

Indian Tradition of the Deluge.

Des Moines Cor. St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Several of the leading men of the Musquakie tribe of Indians, from their reservation in Tama county, were here last week as witnesses before the federal grand jury to testify against parties who sold whisky to one to the best men of the tribe, a grandson of old Poweshiek, the famous chief, by which he got drunk and fell into the river and was drowned.

They were here in charge of Geo. Davenport, their agent, who was born among the Indians at Rock Island, and in whom they have great confidence. Mr. Davenport related many incidents in the history of the Sacs and Foxes, who formerly occupied this territory. The musquakies are the remnant of these tribes. Mr. Davenport says they observe religious rites which closely resemble those of ancient Hebrews. They have a Bible, of which there are several copies among the tribe, which are ancient and preserved with great care. Each bible consists of twenty-seven parts. It is written in characters and signs known only to them. They utter prayers to the supreme being in language entirely different from that in which they converse usually. What it is Mr. Davenport has never been able to learned, nor has he been able to get a copy of their Bible. They get from their Bible a tradition which corresponds to our account of the deluge; for, one day when Mr. Davenport was attempting to explain to them the existence of a God and his relation to man, and also Noah and the deluge, one of the chiefs replied:

"Ugh! We know that long time. We was all in canoes tied together. On top heap water. We put down muskrat—one, two, good many times. He come up. Last time he go down, he come up he bring mud. We know water go down." Their religious rites are held in secret.

JOHN GRIFFITH CARLISLE.

Candidate For Speaker of the Next Congress.

Courier-Journal.

The candidature of John Griffin Carlisle for the Speakership in the newly-elected Federal House of Representatives is an event of importance, especially to those citizens who favor economic reform. He represents the Sixth Kentucky district, is a statesman of very considerable experience, and unquestionably will command great strength in the councils of his party when its chosen leaders assemble at the Capitol and elect a man to preside over the debates of the next House. Mr. Carlisle was born in Campbell (now Kenton) county Kentucky, September 5, 1835. He resides at Covington in the same State. Like many leading Americans of this, as well as the past generations, he began life possessed of no educational advantages beyond those gained at the common school, but he worked hard, and at an early age assumed the duties of a public school-teacher. His leisure time was utilized in reading law, and when opportunity favored his aspirations, he entered an office at Covington and thoroughly qualified himself for admission to the bar. He was admitted in 1858, when twenty-three years of age, and has ever since devoted that portion of his time not given to the public service to the practice of his profession. In 1859 he was elected a member of the Kentucky House of Representatives. Nominated in 1864 as Presidential elector on the Democratic ticket, he declined the honor. In 1866 he was elected to the Senate of his native State, and again in 1869. He was present as a delegate at large from Kentucky at the National Democratic Convention held in New York City in 1868. His nomination for Lieutenant Governor of Kentucky in 1871 caused him to resign his seat in the State Senate. He was elected to the Lieutenant Governorship in August 1871, and served until September, 1875. His fellow-citizens elected him Presidential elector at large for Kentucky in the year 1876. He was subsequently elected to the House of Representatives at Washington. Mr. Carlisle's "record" in Congress is that of an able and diligent man, well-informed and competent to fill more exalted portions than those he has been called upon to fill as yet. He is at the present time traveling as a member of the congressional committee appointed to investigate the Mississippi river, with the view to the improvement and advancement of commerce.

THE Portsmouth (Ohio) Times says: A special meeting of the directors of the Cincinnati and Eastern railroad was held last Saturday, at Cincinnati. A resolution was adopted extending their charter from Portsmouth to a point on the Ohio river near Petersburg. This action was taken to bring the road into close relations with the Chesapeake and Ohio, the Chattahoochee and other railroads. It was also voted to increase the capital stock from $2,000,000 to $4,000,000, and the secretary was authorized to call a meeting of the stockholders to ratify these propositions. The Columbus and Ohio River road had representatives at this meeting and they reported that that portion of their road between Sardinia and Georgetown was rapidly approaching completion, and would soon be ready for the rails. When this road is finished it will be operated by the Cincinnati and Eastern, and will be a reliable feeder to that road.

This looks very much as if it will not go through to Gallipolis. The Cincinnati & Eastern have done a wise thing in determining to tap the Kentucky roads. They will, by this extension of their road connect with the T. C. & St. R. R. at Ironton, and it is only a question of the near future when the Ohio must be bridged between Huntington and Portsmouth. The C. & O. R. R. the Lexington and Big Sandy, and the Eastern Kentucky must be feeders to the Cincinnati and Eastern, the Scioto Valley and the Ohio Valley Railway which latter seems to be considered in railroad circles as certain to be built next year, and to which General Warner is devoting all his attention, and will for the next year.
